

Daisy Goes Hollywood

Foster dog, Daisy, came into Westie Rescue in early Fall 2003 with a very bad case of flea dermatitis and had lost most of her hair.

In November 2003, she was placed in her new “forever home” in the western part of Michigan and has been living happily with her new mom and dad along with Lily, another Westie, Leonard, a Cairn Terrier, and Lindy a Cocker Spaniel. This fall Daisy has become quite a celebrity.

Three years ago the Grand Rapids newspaper, The Press, introduced a cartoon dog mascot to help promote classified ad sales. During the past year they decided they needed to find a “real” dog mascot – so the hunt began. After a long search they selected our own Daisy to become “Presston” the classified advertising mascot. She has a 5 year contract during which she will be the spokesdog for the classified section of The Press. She has been busy posing for the camera and making live appearances. Her public debut was at the Kent County Humane Society Wag and Walk-a-thon, then off to the Press garage sale. She is even starring in commercials. If you live in the Grand Rapids-Kalamazoo area watch for her on your TV!

Lucky for our future rescue dogs, her compensation is being donated back to Westie Rescue to help other Westies find their new “forever homes”. We are all very proud of her success and feel fortunate that we were able to foster her and then send her on to success. To think the new starlet started out with a really bad haircut!
